1. Registration page

The image shows a registration page design for 'PhotoSphere'. The background is a dark purple with a pattern of lighter purple, 3D-style geometric shapes. In the center is a white, rounded rectangular card. At the top of the card, the text 'Welcome to PhotoSphere!' is written in a bold, black, sans-serif font. Below this, there are two input fields: one for 'Email:' and one for 'Password:', both with light gray borders. Under the password field is a gray button with the text 'Create Account'. Below the button is the word 'OR' in a small, black, sans-serif font. Under 'OR' is a gray button with the Google logo and the text 'Log in with Google'. Below this button is the text 'Do you already have an account?'. At the bottom of the card is a purple button with the text 'Log in' in white.

7. Edit profile page

The image shows a web interface for editing a profile. At the top, there is a purple navigation bar with four items: 'Popular' (a purple button), 'New' (a purple button), 'Type to search' (a white search bar with rounded ends), 'Create' (a purple button), and 'Account' (a purple button). Below this bar is a large white rectangular area with rounded corners, set against a light purple background. Inside this white area, on the left, is a square placeholder for a profile photo with the text 'Choose a profile photo' centered inside. To the right of the photo placeholder are four input fields, each with a label to its left: 'Name', 'Surname', 'Username', and 'Profile description'. The first three labels are aligned to the left of their respective single-line input fields. The 'Profile description' label is aligned to the left of a larger, multi-line input field. At the bottom center of the white area is a purple button with the text 'SAVE' in white capital letters.
